ABOUT JARED

Jared Foster is a singer, songwriter and performer from Lancaster, Ohio. Currently in his 3rd year at the University of Cincinnati's College Conservatory of Music, Jared is working towards his degree in Commercial Music Production and a Minor in Business. As a solo artist and with his current trio, Rosewood Revival, Jared has performed in cities all over Ohio, including gigs in Kentucky and Indiana.

While performing, Jared plays all genres of music, but prefers easy listening music. When it comes to musical instruments, Jared is a true renaissance man. He mainly plays acoustic and electric guitar, but also dabbles in bass guitar, drums, piano, mandolin, and the occasional ukulele. When Jared isn't writing music or performing, he can be found enjoying a delicious grilled steak, following the Ohio State Buckeyes, or enjoying the great outdoors.

A Sneak Peak Into My Projects!

I am a student at the University of Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and I major in Commercial Music Production with a minor in business. I take many different courses that challenge me to do different things that people in the music industry do. One of these classes is “Songwriting 2”. The objective for the class is to write and record one song each week with the topic and style that the professor provides. In October, I was asked to make an EDM Pop song with the topic of “Wish You Well”.

I spent part of Thursday writing, Friday recording and mixing, and presented it to the class on Monday. I think it turned out pretty well! There are a few things I would change if I were to re-do it, but that's the point of the class: to realize how you write and what you can do better because of it. For the video, I have included clips of free stock footage because I am a poor, low-budget college student. Because you have subscribed to receive email newsletters from me, you are able to have exclusive access to this song and video. I hope you enjoy!
