MARCH RECAP

This past Sunday, I had the best drive back to Lancaster from Cincinnati as I realized that I had just finished one of my most productive months. Last month I had 4 gigs, all while trying to balance schoolwork as well.

I performed at Horvath's Harbor for the first time on March 6th and had a blast. It was packed and the audience was very receptive and gave great feedback which is always appreciated. I scheduled 2 more gigs there and have the option to add a couple more if my school schedule is open come August. It'll be even better when we get to sit out on the patio in the summer!

On March 13th, I took a trip down to Newport, Kentucky, to play at a Saint Patrick's themed event at Newport on the Levee across from the Newport Aquarium. I had a great audience and hope to be back soon! March 17, I played at Elliot's Woodfired Kitchen and Tap in Newark, OH for the first time for Saint Patrick's Day. I loved the atmosphere and the pizza was amazing.

The boys and I played at a college grad party on the 27th in Greendale, Indiana. We were lucky to have Lou join us on drums and rock the place 'til 10:45! It was definitely a fun wild party where we played some songs for the first time ever just for the heck of it.

Throughout March, I have been working toward my goals. Since January, with the help of others, I have been working to design a new website with a better layout, more information, and a sleek look. This month I have been able to finish the designing process with my designer and marketing consultant and am ready to release on April 1st. I have also worked with my designer to finish art for my upcoming album all while continuing to practice for an upcoming musical. I am playing guitar for the show with the guys from RR thanks to their connections with the school. I can't wait to take on this new experience!

April 1: New Website Design

Check out all of my upcoming events, newest content, merchandise, and newsletters all on my new website created and designed by Jillian VerDow, Justine Foster, and me.

April 5-10: "Something's In The Water" Anniversary

For the one year anniversary of the release of my first song "Something's in the Water", I have decided to offer a limited edition crew neck sweatshirt with the SITW design on it. The 10th will also be the last day to buy the short-sleeve t or hoodie, and all merch is available for purchase on my website.

April 16: NEW ALBUM

The new album is a collection of projects I have been working on for a while. The songs were recorded, mixed, and mastered at home. The art was designed by Justine Foster and me. There will be a limited amount of copies. More details coming soon...
