JANUARY RECAP

In January, I started spring school semester at UC, had a ton of work on personal projects, planned for the new year, and of course, performed when I could. On the Monday before Friday, January 22nd, my band got the call from a bar that we have played at in Hidden Valley, IN called Oasis. We had a great time filling in last minute and got some awesome pictures as well.

We finished January with a performance at 1 More Bar on the 26th going electric and adding our good friend Lou as a drummer for the night. They spoiled us by having our picture and name on a big electric billboard outside the place. We have since been asked back and hope that this will be a great relationship for the future. Note: As of Thursday Jan. 28th, All three of the original band members now own 2008 Honda Odysseys! During January, I have scheduled 5 upcoming gigs: three at Papa Boo's, one at Loose Rail, and finally a wedding gig for 2022!

During January, I began the process of rebranding with a graphic designer and a website designer looking at how I can make a uniform brand across my media platforms and future merchandise. If you are new to Jared Foster Music, you should know that I am constantly trying to make small changes to better brand myself and make all my services easily accessible, but I can't take on this project alone. The website and branding projects will be in development for a bit, but for all updates, feel free to follow my social media. I am hopeful that this will be finished by May.
